(U//FOUO) (b) (3) (A), (b) (7)(E) called upon “indigenous peoples” of the Americas and “Afro-Americans who are oppressed” to attack “Anglo-American supremacists.” There were multiple references to the riots in Ferguson, Missouri which was likely designed to resonate with an audience wider than (b) (3) (A), (b) (7)(E) has typically targeted. The messaging reflects (b) (3) (A), (b) (7)(E) awareness of recent US media coverage of perceived racial and other issues in American society, which the group is trying to exploit.

(b) (3) (A), (b) (5), (b) (7)(E)

- (U//FOUO) Anarchist extremists have occasionally attempted to use as a diversion low-level criminal activity, which often occurs during otherwise lawful protests. Under cover of these criminal acts, anarchist extremists have sought to commit larger attacks, such as using improvised incendiary devices against critical infrastructure.
- (U//FOUO) I&A informed cleared State, local, tribal, and territorial officials of this development in this morning's Homeland Intelligence Daily. I&A also provided this information to the Intelligence Officer in Maryland
